

E.H. Newton – International Cross-Border Heir Search

Overview

E.H. Newton is an independent forensic genealogy practice specialising in cross-border inheritance investigations, heir tracing and archival reconstruction across Central and Eastern Europe, Israel and the United Kingdom.

Founded by forensic genealogist Esther Fuerster-Ashkenazi, the practice works with legal professionals, probate researchers, governmental institutions and international organisations to identify heirs, reconstruct complex family histories and resolve genealogical questions in legal and investigative contexts.

Areas of Specialisation

- International heir tracing and inheritance investigations
 - Cross-border genealogical research across Europe and Israel
 - Archival reconstruction in complex historical cases
 - Identification of legal heirs in probate proceedings
 - Jewish diaspora genealogy and migration analysis
 - Multilingual archival research and document interpretation
 - Genealogical investigations for institutional and media projects
-

Research Scope

Research regularly conducted across:

Central and Eastern Europe

Israel

United Kingdom

United States

Canada

With particular expertise in navigating archival systems in Poland and neighbouring regions.

Professional Background

Esther Fuerster-Ashkenazi is a forensic genealogist and founder of E.H. Newton.

She previously served as a forensic genealogist with the Office of the Administrator General at the Israeli Ministry of Justice, conducting investigations into inheritance cases involving abandoned property and unidentified heirs.

Her work involves reconstructing complex family networks through archival research, historical documentation and migration analysis in order to identify legal heirs in international probate cases.

Clients and Collaborations

E.H. Newton works with:

- probate research firms
 - law firms and estate administrators
 - governmental institutions
 - historical and cultural organisations
 - media and documentary production teams
-

Collaboration Model

Research may be conducted as:

- commissioned genealogical investigations
 - archival and documentary research
 - institutional collaboration
 - specialist consulting on inheritance and family reconstruction cases
-

Contact

Esther Fuerster-Ashkenazi

Founder – E.H. Newton

Email: esther@ehnewton.com

Israel